

<http://www.freewebs.com/halloweentower/propdeadman.htm>

Dead Man How-To

Supplies and Costs

- Some Old Clothes; Pants and a long sleeve shirt-about $5 at Good Will, or free if you've got clothes to get rid of
- An old newspaper-$0.50 or free if you have last Sunday's paper
- 2 or 3 Popsicle Sticks-Oh just go eat a popsicle and take the stick
- Red Paint: Acrylic is Best-$2-3 at a craft store
- Masking or Duct Tape-$2-5

Step 1

Start by taping up the ends of the pants and the ends of the sleeves with your tape. To do this, roll back the cuffs on top of the sleeves. Then just make a spider web type thing out of tape on the cuffs. Now roll them back the normal way and you cant see the web. Do the same for the ends of the pants.

Step 2

This part is easy. Roll up the news paper into balls, tubes or whatever and stuff the clothes. Make it even and it'll look good. Now you need to put them together. Make a large astrict of tape on the backside. No one will see that since hell be lying on the ground most likely. For the top, make loops of tape and put them on the belt area of the pants. Just bring the shirt over and hope is should stick.

Step 3

He looks real, but almost like suddenly his hands feet and head flew off. No blood. That's where the red paint comes in. Splatter red paint with your popsicle sticks all over it. And there you have it. A dead guy.

Obtained from
Omarshaintedtrail.com