How to make Dummies

Here's my basic dummy. Of all the ways I've tried, this one turned out to be the easiest and most effective for me. It's so simple. All you need is:

- 1) An old pair of pants
- 2) A hooded sweatshirt
- 3) Pair of white gloves
- 4) An old pair of socks
- 5) Plastic bags for stuffing
- 6) Needle and thread

Start with the pants. Stuff them with plastic bags. Sew the hems of the pants closed to keep the stuffing inside. Then stuff the gloves with flimsy plastic bags or kleenex if desired. However plastic bags are more weather-resistant if your dummy will be outdoors. Sew the finished hands onto the sweatshirt sleeves. Then stuff the sweatshirt and sew the hood shut to keep contents inside. Sew the torso to the pants. Now you can stuff the socks with plastic bags and sew them onto the pant leg bottoms.

Sew pant legs shut at hems as above.

Sew stuffed socks onto hems for feet

Now your dummy has a head, body, feet and arms; all ready to dress up.

Sew the hood shut to form the head

Now all you need is a good rubber mask and an appropriate costume to make your dummy whatever you want it to be.

The white gloves on this particular dummy are perfect because they can double for Dracula and for Santa.
