How It Started Out:

After purchasing the mask and robe, I was slightly disappointed by the fact that none of my volunteers wanted to wear it. I decided to build a quick body and I was pleasantly surprised at how well "Nicodemus" came out!

How I Did It:

STEP 1

Lay out the costume on the ground with the rough pose you want "Nicodemus" to have.

STEP 2

Build a roughly human shape out of the PVC pipe, measuring from the outfit "Nicodemus" will be wearing. Remember to glue the PVC pipe pieces INSIDE the clothing, because you may have difficulty getting him dressed because his arms won't bend into the outfit!

STEP 3

Notice how I created his "feet", a rectangular base so that "Nicodemus" can be a free-standing figure, I am working on a way to put on huge boots without him wobbling back and forth, when I do that I will update this page.

As he stands right now, he is pretty sturdy. The silver and red stuff you see is duct tape. Why did I use duct tape there instead of glue ? Because when I get tired of Nicodemus, I will unravel the duct tape and that will allow me to undress him and dress him into another outfit (like my 'Friendly Frank') The trick for "Nicodemus" to be free-standing is that his 'ankle' is actually a 3 piece pvc pipe.

STEP 4

A cheap way to give your monster creepy hands, I took yellow latex dishwashing gloves and turned them inside out. I then duct taped them into place on his arm.

STEP 5

I filled up the latex mask full of plastic garbage bags, there is a pvc pipe inside the head acting as a 'neck'.

CONGRATULATIONS! You're done and Nicodemus is ready to hang out and party!

ADDENDUM

My 2 year old son Logan and Nicodemus check each other out.
