CORPSED BUCKY TORSO

I originally picked up this torso to use in a 'Bar-B Que' spit prop. Unfortunately, my wife veto'd the idea. There was no way that I was going to let it just sit in the box, so I decided to give it a good corpsing.

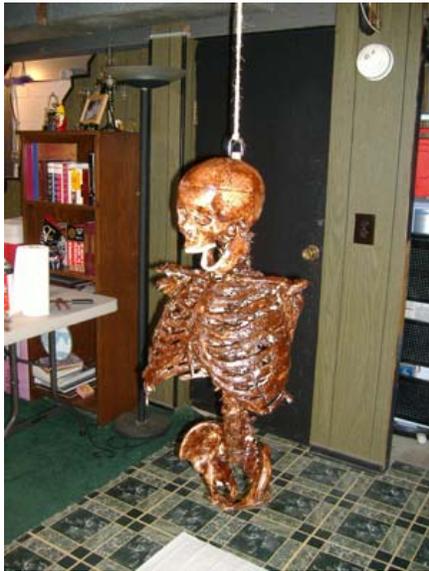

With this being the first one I ever tried, I wanted to make sure I didn't screw it up. I don't remember exactly who's method I followed, but I think the whole thing turned out pretty good.

Here is a quick rundown of what I did.

- First thing, I epoxy's the top of his head on.
- I then proceeded to Epoxy open his mough
- After that, spray glued toilet paper to the entire torso.
- I then covered it in gel stain.
- After that, I used a paint brush to apply some baby powder.

That's pretty much about it. Thanks for looking.
