Potions and Spell components:

Some of our empty wine bottles.

The 2 on the right have labels we picked up at the Dollar Tree, (8 different labels for a dollar.) The left one was a Martha Stewart label I got last year on clearance. You can use whatever you like to embellish the bottles and give them more interest. Here I use hot glue and twine. For an older antique look brush the twine with watered down brown paint. The corks are skull whistles I got online for cheap. one painted black. The Red Blood bottle actually has fake blood in it.
