Falling Skeleton

Once of my favorites that takes place in the haunted house is The Falling from attic skeleton. This is a very great startler.

What you need is nothing too expensive but may cost approximately 15 dollars. You also need to have a free attic.

Materials:

- A free attic
- A skeleton about 5 feet tall or bigger. (can be a homemade one but its better if it dangles)
- A pulley and a 2 circular hooks
- Rope (preferably smaller but big will work also)
- A place to hide where nobody can see you
- Ladder

Now, If you have all your materials start building!

Look at the picture, For me I hide in a divider that has a space in it.

Instructions to building:

- 1 - MAKE SURE YOU HAVE ALL THE MATERIALS!
- 2 - Find a place to hide
- 3 - Start putting hook up but make sure rope is on an angle so its easier to pull up and down.
- 4 - Put 2nd hook up were the attic goes up
- 5 - place pulley in dead centre of the top of the attic
- 6 - Now You must do all the roping.

7 - First, run rope through first hook, then through the second hook, then through pulley.

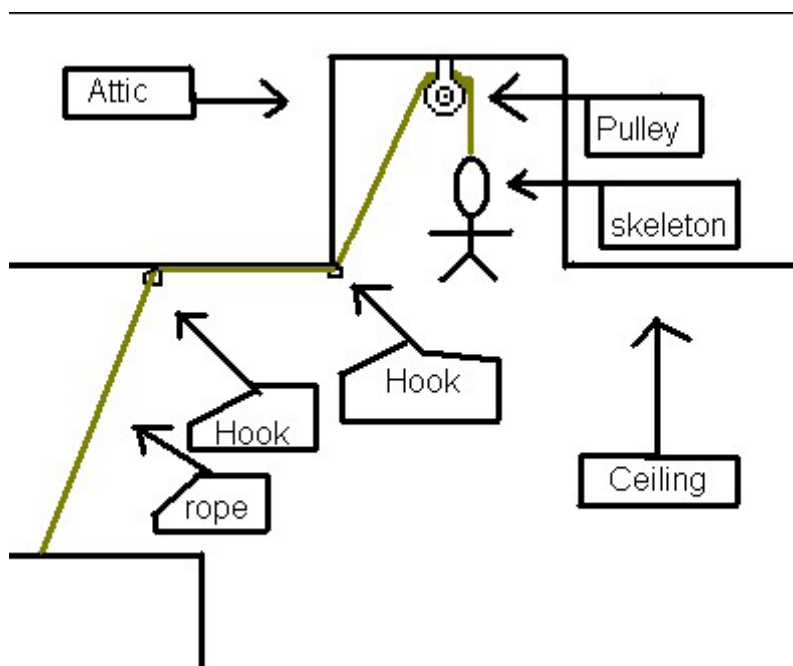

8 - Take Mr. Skeleton and tie him up.

9 - Make sure rope is set so when you drop him you can pull him back up. (also make a not so if you let go of the rope completely the rope wont go through all the hooks and the pulley)

10 - MAKE SURE SKELETON IS STRONG!

11 - YOUR DONE!

Ok, once you're done and people walk by dropped Mr. Skeleton down right in front of him so they get really scared and startled!
