

Glowing Cobwebs

This make, and costs practically nothing.

Here's two tufts of that cotton like web material you can buy at any store. You know... The stuff that comes in a bag, and looks like cotton candy, then you stretch and pull it to make your cobwebs. This picture was taken under normal lighting conditions, but the tuft on the left has been soaked in Rit Whitener & Brightener and some water and left to dry. The tuft on the right has not been treated at all.

This picture is taken under UV (Black light) lighting. As you can plainly see, the tuft that has been treated with RIT Whitener & Brightener is glowing, the tuft that hasn't been treated has disappeared. Simple, huh?
