A WITCH AND HER CEMETERY STEW (FOG MACHINE)

This prop uses a fog machine to produce smoke out of a Witch's cauldron

We needed a big cauldron so we used a large trash can fastened to a plywood base.

We used 90-degree L-brackets to attach the trash can to the plywood base. We bought the trash can at a local hardware store.

Inside the trash can we mounted a spotlight holder to the side wall. A red spotlight shines up through the fog and on to the witch. We used bolts and nuts, not screws. We attached a fake human arm and hand to hang out of the cauldron for an added effect.

About 2 inches from the bottom, we cut out a circle and placed a PVC pipe. The pipe is used to carry fog in to the cauldron.

A smaller kitchen sized trash can will be the weather protector for the fog machine. We spray painted it black.

We cut a hole in the bottom of it so the PVC pipe can go in to the cauldron from it then laid it on it's side and fastened it to the plywood base with L-brackets.

The witch prop is a simple PVC pipe zombie. In this photo, we pulled back the witch's sleeve to show how she's made.

A view from the rear of the prop.

Notice the PVC pipe is coming through the smaller garbage can. The end of the fog machine is placed inside this PVC pipe to pump fog in to the cauldron. Be careful not to make direct contact with the fog machine because it may melt the PVC pipe.
